Duty of Disclosure

Before you enter into a contract of insurance with an insurer, you have a duty under the Insurance Contracts Act 1984, to disclose to the insurer every matter that you know, or could reasonably be expected to know, which is relevant to the insurer's decision to accept the risk of the insurance and, if so, on what terms.

You and your employee Members have the same duty to disclose those matters to AIA Australia Limited (the Insurer) before requesting that The Trust Company (Superannuation) Limited (The Trustee) extend, vary or reinstate the Policy issued by the Insurer to the Trustee in respect of ROSS.

Where applicable, this duty of disclosure also extends to disclosing all relevant matters to the Trustee under the terms of ROSS. This ensures that the Trustee as the policy-holder under the Policy, is able to meet its disclosure obligations to the Insurer.

Non-Disclosure

If you fail to comply with your duty of disclosure and the insurer would not have entered into the contract on any terms if the failure had not occurred, the insurer may avoid the contract within three years of entering into it. If your non-disclosure is fraudulent, the insurer may avoid the contract at any time. An insurer who is entitled to avoid a contract of insurance may, within three years of entering into it, elect not to avoid it, but to reduce the sum that you have been insured for in accordance with a formula that takes into account the contribution that would have been payable if you had disclosed all relevant matters to the insurer.
